

Whitney Dudzic

Class 6 Teacher

Whitney Dudzic grew up in Red Deer and moved to Edmonton when she was 14. She fostered a love for the arts and studied Education at Grant MacEwan and the University of Alberta. She began her teaching career at Edmonton Public and has over eight years of teaching experience in Kindergarten through to Grade Six. During her teaching career, she has fostered an inclusive classroom, cultivating positive experiences working with students with diverse learning needs, striving to ensure that each child feels seen, heard, and cared for in her classroom. In those eight years of teaching, her family grew. She is confident that becoming a parent has made her a better teacher a million times over.

Whitney is excited about stepping into a Waldorf classroom where her teaching philosophy of student connections first, alongside student engagement in a rich curriculum and hands-on learning support student growth align. She wants students to know they are capable of amazing things. For her, there is no better gift than seeing a child reach their highest potential and having fun through the process of learning and growing.
