Kindergarten Teacher

Charlotte grew up on a cattle ranch north of Edmonton alongside her nine siblings. Yes, she was one of ten children, a typical big French, Catholic family. She has fond memories of running barefoot in the summer and trudging through deep snow in winter, under the bright, blue, prairie sky. Guided by her love of French and children, she acquired a BEd from the Campus St. Jean, at the U of A, specializing in Early Childhood Education. Over the years she has taught nursery, Kindergarten, Grades 1, 2 and 3. She has also delved into homeschooling and created nature based preschool programs, while enjoying life with their four children and husband. While searching for a school for her son, Jesse, Charlotte discovered the WISE. She was enamoured by the way it invited children to be children, to play, explore and live into their senses. She loved all of the art, singing, drama, and visual beauty of the school and was thrilled to know that being part of nature was intrinsic to the curriculum. She had found a new home. She is so pleased to be teaching Kindergarten at the WISE since 2017. Charlotte looks forward to spending many precious moments with your children, embraced by nature, guiding them in what they do best, learning and developing life skills through the art of play.
