

Montana Wolff Von Selzam Parent/Child Teacher

Montana is very excited to be teaching Rosebuds this year! At age 11 Montana first volunteered in a WISE parent and tot class alongside a variety of teachers including her mother, who worked in a variety of early childhood roles at WISE over many years.

At that age she already loved working with children, and found real peace in the calm and beautiful environment. She saw many aspects in the school that were also in the Waldorf inspired homeschooling class she was part of, Heart and Hands, with songs, verses, and nature based art.

Over the years Montana has been a part of the WISE school community in a variety of roles; as a volunteer, as a dedicated Aide to a student through grades 1-5, as a Homeschooling Arts Enrichment co-teacher just last year, and over the last two years she had the joy of also being a parent in the Rosebuds class with her son, who is now moving on to Daisies.

Coming full circle she is now thrilled to be on the guiding side of a class that has meant so much to her over the years.
